Never before have we faced so much distraction in our lives. The digital age brings all sorts of challenges to home and work relationships and to worker safety. Carl Dixon shares his story - and how a few seconds of being emotionally distracted while driving, shattered his life. Carl's story of resilience and rebuilding to a new beginning is inspiring, uplifting and full of positive messages that he tailors to your event.

Carl Dixon is a Canadian rock legend for the mere fact that he is still alive. As lead singer of Coney Hatch Carl toured with Iron Maiden and Judas Priest across North America. He later joined April Wine for four years and then was lead singer of The Guess Who for eight years. Carl's life was shattered in 2008 by an horrific head-on car accident in Australia. Stressed and "emotionally impaired" Carl forgot that in Australia they drive on the other side. He suffered traumatic brain injury, 52 injuries in total and was assessed as having 75% loss of ability. Yet he's rebuilt a music career, become a published author and now an inspirational speaker. Carl's presentation is informative, musical, raw, honest and at times hilarious. An uplifting story of how our journey to the top is never a solo act.
